

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen my Indiana Telephone Privacy law protections.

The Indiana Telephone Privacy law has improved my time at home.

The Indiana law has been effective(e.g., "I used to receive 12 calls per week, now I only receive one").

The occassional call I get now are from government and/or educational institutions solicitations. I wish I could screen those as well, which Indiana law is working to do.